Judge Dillon's Decision in the Whisky Cases

St. Louis, April 8.—The U.S. Circuit Court was crowded this morning by special request to hear Judge Dillon's decision in the McKee Matthews case. The court announced that in the matter of the five counts in the indictment against the defendant, and to which he pleaded guilty, charging him with falsifying, altering and changing certain known bonds of the Iron Mountain Railroad Company, he would be charged into court and fined for each of the five counts, the fine in each case being $1,000—the maximum punishment which could be imposed under the statute. The fine in the case of McKee amounted to $5,000. The motion in arrest of judgment was then argued by Judge Dillon, Judge Krum and Judge Bliss, the latter appearing for the defendant. The court overruled the motion for a new trial was overruled. Judge Krum then moved the motion for arrest of judgment and the court announced that argument on it would be heard this afternoon.

McKee's Case.

St. Louis, April 8.—The case of McKee on motion for arrest of judgment was taken up in the U.S. Circuit Court this afternoon and argued. The counsel for McKee was that the court had not had jurisdiction of the case the indictment never having been committed as required by statute, but only a copy upon which he was arrested, and requested that the motion be overruled. Judge Dillon announced that he would not hear argument on a motion to file briefs within six days, and that both sides to file briefs within six days. Judge Dillon interrupted the argument Judge Dillon suggested that the defendant had been acquitted at the first indictment. Judge Krum admitted this, but argued that the principle would be found in the case of Fitzpatrick, and requested that the case be referred to Babcock. The defendant's counsel was then read and quoted on a transcript which was then ordered to the circuit court by the district attorney, and if the motion in the McKee case should be overruled it will initiate the proceedings in all the cases against the defendant, and then Babcock may have to face a new indictment. The point involved in the case is looked forward to with much interest by the profession and the public generally. At the close of the argument Judge Dillon announced that the motion for arrest of judgment was overruled. Judge Krum then moved that the motion should be entered nunc pro tunc as of the day of the trial. Judge Dillon objected, and modified his motion accordingly. Judge Krum accepted the same, and passed sentence on the defendant McKee, fining him the sum of $5,000—the maximum penalty of the law of $5,000—the maximum penalty of the law of $5,000—the maximum penalty of the law

PLEDGES AND FUND FOR THE WINNEMUCCA ROAD

For some time past capitalists have been in correspondence with the Central Pacific proposing that if the company would construct the Winnemucca railway to Portland the latter would secure to the company the right of way over railroads now in Oregon and Washington Territory and a land grant of [illegible] acres from the Oregon State Legislature during the present session Responses from capitalists in the Eastern States were received which were of a favorable character and the Central Pacific company sent a special railway commissioner to Portland to confer with citizens upon the subject Mr Stevens the commissioner visited Portland and had interviews with citizens and railroad men and reported that the project was favorably received by capitalists and that the Oregon Legislature would grant the land asked for Mr Stevens also reported that the citizens of Portland would subscribe $300,000 to the stock of the road provided the Central Pacific company would build the road from Portland to the Columbia river at Wallula Mr Stevens also reported that the people of the State were willing to vote bonds to the amount of $1,000,000 to aid in the construction

CITY.

Sorrow—A young man named Hutchinson employed on Tualatin Engine Co No 1 was thrown from the hose carriage belonging to that company yesterday while returning from the fire in the hose company was coming down Second street between Taylor and Yamhill streets. The rope was sad to have become entangled with the wheels of the carriage and fell. Before he could possibly extricate himself the wheels of the carriage ran over his left leg, passing across the left leg and side of the body. Fortunately no bones were broken although the injured man was pretty thoroughly bruised. He was carried to his boarding house on Taylor street, where Dr. White engaged to splint the broken leg. It will be a few days since Mr. Hutchinson had the misfortune to have his foot, almost severing it from the ankle joint. A physician was called who dressed the wounded foot. The surgeon of the right foot. A physician was called who dressed the wounded foot. The surgeon is of the opinion that the patient will be able to be out in a few days.

Found Dead.—The carcass of a dead man was found last Saturday forenoon by Mr. Hall while coming into the city from Gray's Harbor, while coming into the city from Gray's Harbor, a small black bottle that seemed to have recently contained poison, which contained a slip of paper on which was written the following: Sunday, Nov 16, 1873 at sea at 10 A. M. bore N. Cape Mendocino bearing East North, Dist. 68 miles, Lat. 10 deg. 44 min. N. Long. 125, 45 min West per Summerfield." (Signed) J. R. SNOW.

Passengers for the North.—The steamship City of Panama carries the following passengers for Victoria and Puget Sound ports mentioned: Cabin—For Victoria—M. T. Johnson, J. Smith, A. W. Smith, Miss L. Williams, Jas. Wilson, Malcolm Thompson, Thos. Brown, R. Hall, W. Rees, J. Rossiter, Sitka; Dr. J. Haworth, U. S. A., George Hamilton, Steam, Port Townsend—Andrew Field, Peterson, B. Brodine, C. Lawson, Samuel Jackson, Chilkat; Fort Wrangel, John Ryan, Con. Finnegan, H. M. Stemmler, H. McClean, Frank Jennalin, Z. Graves, Wm. Dunlap, Mr. Long.

Lorchow Comino.—The steamship John A. Hayden sailed from San Francisco last Saturday forenoon, having on board the following passengers: H. Villard, W. F. Hibbs, Cashman, H. Sovenson, D. C. Haskins, Capt. R. G. Randall, T. S. Shewood, Dr. John K. Mercer, W. M. Wheeler, W. M. Wheeler and family, H. M. Hall, H. C. Hall, J. McGrath, T. B. Holton, D. Ballard, L. Bullock, H. L. Dodge, F. Gullick, Mrs. A. Gray, Miss E. L. Arnold, Mrs. H. Cushman, W. Pierce, T. Smith and wife.

A Tremendous Singer.—An exchange says: "Richard R. Coker, a near relative of John R. Coker, of Portland, is gaining a world wide reputation by an extraordinary display of musical ability. When only 13 years of age he possessed a clear soprano voice of remarkable sweetness, volume and compass, and astonished every one who heard him, being able to sing the most difficult music with ease and correctness. It is believed that this musical prodigy in time will charm the Pacific coast a visit soon."

Shot Gun Accident.—Saturday two complaints were filed in the U. S. commissioner's office against the master of the steamer who came to this port on the bark W. H. Thorndyke, from Philadelphia, the bark W. H. Thorndyke, from Philadelphia, which is this, helped a complaint against Captain Wells of this, helped a complaint against Captain Wells of that vessel, charging him with cruel and inhuman treatment. Captain Wells was arrested by the marshal, but gave bonds for his appearance this morning at 10 o'clock when an examination of the case will be had. Joe York was also arrested, charged with boarding a vessel before she was properly entered in a manner contrary to the provisions of the law. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $300, to appear before the commissioner this morning.

An Ocean Waif.—An Olympia exchange says: "We are responsible for the following. 'On the 15th day of February last, Mr. W. O. McFarland, who was down on the sea coast, and is engaged in clamming during the proper season, saw or picked up on the sea shore, about five miles north of the entrance to Gray's Harbor, a small black bottle that seemed to have recently visited shore, which contained a slip of paper on which was written the following: Sunday, Nov 16, 1873 at sea at 10 A. ANNIVERSARY—Y. M. C. A.

Last Sunday afternoon was literally packed to overflowing with the members of the various Young Men's Christian Associations which have been organized to take part in the celebration of the Centennial Anniversary. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mr. C. Christie, who in a few appropriate remarks welcomed the delegates present, and stated that the object of the meeting was to consider the propriety of holding a State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Oregon, to be held in Portland during the Centennial year. The meeting was then addressed by Rev. D. J. Pierce, Rev. O. O. Howard, and others, after which the meeting adjourned.

The Association, we learn, was never in so prosperous a condition as at present and its members and numerous sympathizers have reason to feel greatly encouraged by the success which has thus far attended the efforts put forth.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr. H. W. Montmastes has departed for the East to purchase new goods. He may be expected home again in about two months with a greatly increased stock.

Prior to early departure for San Francisco, Mr. B. F. Stone the jeweler will sell his surplus stock at greatly reduced prices. He makes a magnificent display which is worth while inspecting.

To-morrow the grand spring opening, of millinery goods will commence at Miss Jennie Mortmain's. This will be gratifying news to the ladies. They will be agreeably surprised at the display.

Wm. Funder that well known pharmaceutist is making a vast improvement in his splendid store by the addition of many at the rear of the building. The reputation of the house is the best. Give him a call.

Schuss have the ticket at the White House for the next few days that they could find room to tell the ladies through the Oregonian what novelties they have for us. We happened in on Saturday and found a most attractive display in all departments. We will not attempt to describe the numerous articles enumerated in Lewis & Straus' lengthy advertisement, but a personal inspection by the ladies will serve to enlighten them upon the subject. The attaches of the house have the reputation of being attentive to patrons which is sufficient guarantee that customers will be waited perfectly at home at the White House.
